Top Security offers

free email service

AS HACKERS, cyber criminals and 'malware authors' become increasingly sophisticated in their quest to corrupt, infect and steal via e-mail, Irish-owned international security firm, Top Security today launched a free web-based email service which provides the ultimate in email security.

Called Topmail, the service is aimed both at the home and small business user looking for a highly secure and easy to manage email account.

Features include a 24/7 global email monitoring service; a unique @topmail.ie email address; and a free 100MB mailbox.
