

Top Security offering

TOP Security has launched a new online home insurance shopping tool which it claims could save homeowners up to 35pc on their home insurance costs.

The service, which can be accessed through the Top Security website (www.topsecurity.ie) allows visitors to obtain home insurance quotes and buy online from the leading insurers in the Irish market.

The company said the premiums are competitive and reflect a combination of discounts from buying through the website and for features such as an alarm and a good claims history.

Recognising the additional security a monitored alarm provides, a discount of up to 35pc is applied to all residences monitored by Top Security's monitoring stations.

Pat Byrne of Rainmaker, a leading business strategy consultancy, worked closely with Top Security in the development and launch of this new service.

Premiums can be compared and purchased online in six steps. Alternatively, customers can contact Topinsurance directly on freephone 1800 699 699.
